Global Footprint; Expanding Risk

Taking your technology company global is an increasingly common occurrence. With that exciting step come additional and unique risks. Standard domestic insurance may not provide the appropriate coverages to handle your international exposures.

At OneBeacon Technology Insurance, we provide a one-stop solution for your international coverage needs. Our worldwide solutions are developed in consultation with foreign carriers and can be tailored, based on your specific needs. Our exceptional expertise and multinational contacts help ensure that your business is protected no matter where it's being transacted. What's more, the coverage is written on admitted paper in compliance with local laws and jurisdictions. And, no matter the country or location, we remain your singular point of contact, providing insight and guidance in the complex international insurance environment.
